The 1964 Championship Story

It is doubtful whether any of the Cleveland Browns' previous championship teams, with the possible exception of the 1950 unit which won the championship in its initial season in the National Football League, gave the city's football filberts more excitement and satisfaction than did the 1964 outfit.

Not rated too highly in the pre-season reckoning despite the fact they finished but one game away from the New York Giants in 1963, the Browns swept through their pre-season schedule impressively. They were in first place or tied for the lead throughout the entire season with the exception of two days between their loss to Pittsburgh here on Saturday night, October 10 and the St. Louis Cardinals' defeat by Baltimore two nights later.

Five straight victories following the loss to Pittsburgh enabled them to build up a two and one-half game lead over St. Louis. But a heart-breaking 28-21 defeat by Green Bay plus a 28-19 decision to the Cardinals two weeks later made it mandatory for the Browns to turn back New York in the season finale at Yankee Stadium if they were to win the division crown.

In the finest performance of his career, Frank Ryan completed 12 of 13 passes and threw five touchdown aerials to pace the Browns to a crushing 52 to 20 win for their first division championship since 1957.

Two weeks later, the Browns opposed the Baltimore Colts in the NFL championship affair. The Colts were strong pre-game favorites as a result of their devastating offense which had compiled the third highest point total in league history.

In one of the finest defensive displays in the history of the club, the Browns' defensive unit, which had done yeoman work throughout the season in every area except that of statistics, throttled John Unitas & Co. without a score as the Browns gained a 27 to 0 victory. Lou Groza broke a scoreless deadlock in the third period with a 43-yard field goal and Ryan proceeded to hurl three touchdown passes to Gary Collins who set a playoff game mark.

It was the club's first championship since 1954 and its followers are hopeful that the current team, most of whose key performers are still comparatively young, may have started another era in the National Football League such as did the original Browns who appeared in the title game for six straight years.

The Magnificent Defense vs. Colts!

HEAD COACH – BLANTON COLLIER

12th season with Browns, 37th in coaching

Born July 2, 1906 at Millersburg, Ky. Graduated Georgetown (Ky.) College '27

No vote was necessary at the conclusion of the 1964 football season to acclaim Blanton Collier as the Cleveland Browns fans' "Coach of the Year".

In his second season as head coach of the Browns, the soft-spoken Kentuckian had directed his team to its first world's title since 1955. His game preparation for the championship meeting with the Baltimore Colts and their great quarterback, Johnny Unitas, reflected the efforts of a keen football student and the Browns' execution of these plans in their 27 to 0 surprise victory placed both the players and their coach on the throne of professional football.

Collier's Browns have compiled an over-all mark of 21 wins, seven losses and one tie under his leadership in the past two seasons, a record unequalled by any other coach in the National Football League during this period.

After the 1963 Browns staged a spirited but unsuccessful bid to dethrone the New York Giants as Eastern Conference rulers of the NFL, Collier reminded his charges at Hiram last summer that the road would be rocky in 1964. "Everyone now knows that we have a pretty good football team and they will be ready for us," Collier told his players.

The team won four of five contests in one of its most impressive exhibition seasons and then proceeded to hold down first place or be tied for the lead throughout the entire year except for a brief period between the Saturday night loss to Pittsburgh on October 10 and the St. Louis Cardinals' defeat by Baltimore two nights later.

His 1964 Browns played aggressive football, highlighted by a devastating offense that scored 415 points, second highest in Browns' history. The club reflected Collier's poise and courage as it came from behind nine times in 1964 to win or tie games.

A quiet man who shuns the spotlight, Collier has a favorite bit of philosophy which characterizes the man: "You can accomplish anything you want as long as you don't care who gets the credit."

When Collier succeeded his former boss, Paul Brown, early in 1963, few football followers were sanguine about the team's prospects in light of what had transpired in 1962.

The Browns had compiled a dismal 7-6-1 mark, their second worst in the club's history. Ernie Davis was dying and veteran defensive halfback Don Fleming had been killed in an accident. Two of the best linemen in Browns' history, Mike McCormack and Jim Ray Smith, had announced that they would not be back.

Many questions had to be answered by Collier's 1963 Browns and the answers came fast. He permitted his quarterback to call the plays and instructed him to play exciting, daring football.

Opponents quickly learned to expect the unexpected from Collier but before adjustments could be made, the team had won its first six games. Although the Browns finally wound up one game out of first place, opposing coaches in the league knew that Collier had upgraded the club into a contender.

The past season was actually Collier's 36th as a coach and his 11th with the Browns. His association with the Browns occurred as a result of his Navy service in World War II.

As an athletic specialist and Petty Officer 2nd Class, Collier was stationed at Great Lakes Naval Station. He had been the football coach at Paris (Ky.) High School for 16 years following his graduation from Georgetown (Ky.)

College.

Hungry for football knowledge and well equipped with the capacity to absorb it, Collier spent all of his spare time at the practice field, taking notes. Finally, Paul Brown, then head coach at Great Lakes, became curious about the unofficial observer and thus began a long-time coaching association.

Although Collier was making plans to work on his Master of Arts degree while he served as an assistant to Paul Bryant at the University of Kentucky, Brown changed all this by inviting him to join his staff at Great Lakes and later the Browns as they started play in the All America Conference in 1946.

Among Collier's early special assignments was that of working with rookie quarterback Otto Graham. The latter, who went on to become one of the greatest passers in football, still credits Collier for his development.

Collier also concentrated on pass defense strategy for the Browns and he shared with Brown much of the credit for many defensive tactics which were then revolutionary.

After Cleveland swept to its first title in 1946, Collier received a new assignment for the winter—devise a system of grading players by studying their performances on film. Three months later he turned in an incredibly comprehensive report which dwarfed any efforts made previously. It was so thorough and revealing it became a prototype for every study later on in the NFL.

Following four AAC titles plus one NFL championship and three Eastern Division first place finishes, Collier, drawn by loyalty for his home state, accepted the position as head coach at Kentucky in 1954. It was not generally known at the time that he had turned down one head coaching job in the NFL.

Collier spent the next eight seasons at Kentucky where he managed to compile a very creditable 41-36-3 record in one of the toughest college circuits in the nation, a conference that included Mississippi, Louisiana State, Alabama, Tennessee and others. Collier's material, however, wasn't deep enough for championships and his Kentucky era ended early in 1962. In the spring of that year, he accepted an offer from Brown to return to Cleveland as an assistant.

Back with the Browns, Collier again tutored the offensive backs, one of whom was quarterback Frank Ryan just acquired from the Los Angeles Rams. After four fruitless seasons at Los Angeles, Ryan bloomed under Collier's tutelage and when Collier decided upon the former Rice Institute star as his number one passer in 1963, Ryan came through with a very rewarding performance.

There is a perfect relationship between Ryan, a bright pupil, and Collier, the patient teacher who is a master football technician with the rare ability to instruct the finer points of just about every position. Ryan describes Collier as "the most complete coach I've ever known."

During Collier's nine years as an assistant with the Browns, they compiled a record of 101 victories, 21 defeats and four ties. Including his two seasons as a head coach, it's 122-28-5.

Collier and his attractive, personable wife, Mary Forman, whom everyone calls Forman, reside in suburban Aurora, about 27 miles outside of Cleveland. His private life finds him as great a family man as he is a coach. He and his wife have three daughters. The youngest, Jane, is now a stewardess with Pan American Airways. The other two are married and living in Kentucky, Carolyn (Mrs. Sam Ware) in Ashland and Kay (Mrs. Robert Slone) in Lexington. A very close family, the joy of the Colliers is their four granddaughters.

In the off-season Collier's favorite recreation is golf and he approaches the game with the same studious thought which typifies his football. Thus far, however, his success on the links is not comparable with that which he has enjoyed on the gridiron as his golf game fluctuates between 80 and 100.

1964 REVIEW

Sun., Sept. 13 Browns 27, Redskins 13 (47,577) at Wash.

In their opener played in a steady rain, the Browns gave an early inkling of the recuperative powers that would highlight their entire 1964 campaign by overcoming an early Redskin 10-point lead to win.

The Skins scored first in the initial minute of the second quarter on a 12-yard field goal by Jim Martin after a lengthy march from the Browns' 12-yard stripe that consumed more than 10 minutes of the first quarter.

Rookie Paul Krause picked off a Frank Ryan pass moments after the kick-off and two plays later another rookie, Charley Taylor, scampered 17 yards for a touchdown. When the Browns were held for downs after the ensuing kickoff, things were hardly bright.

But Mike Lucci pounced on Ozzie Clay's fumble of Gary Collins' punt and Frank Ryan threw a touchdown pass to Collins in the end zone. With less than three minutes of the half remaining, Jim Brown burst through from the one-yard line to give the Browns a 13-10 lead.

The Browns capitalized on another Washington miscue to set up their third touchdown, Walter Beach grabbing a fumble by Bobby Mitchell after a 29-yard gain on a pass. A 32-yard pass from Ryan to Ernie Green brought the ball to the one and Brown then scored his second touchdown of the game. Green tallied the final Cleveland touchdown in the last period after an impressive 76 yard march.

The Browns suffered a serious blow when tackle Frank Parker left the game early after sustaining a serious knee injury which benched him for most of the year. However, veteran Dick Modzelewski, who had been acquired from the New York Giants during the winter, replaced Parker and did such a magnificent job of rallying the defense that he was awarded the game ball.

Sun., Sept. 20 Browns 33, Cardinals 33 (76,954) at Cleve.

As indicated by the score, this was one of the most electrifying games ever at the Stadium and it was highlighted by a clutch play involving Frank Ryan and Gary Collins that was the most important one of the year. It brought the Browns back from the brink of defeat and since their final margin over the Cards at the conclusion of 1964 was but a half game, its significance is obvious.

Less than a minute and a half of play remained as the Browns held the ball on the Cards' 45-yard stripe. It was fourth down and 19 yards to go with the score 30-26 in favor of the visitors. Ryan heaved a long pass that Collins caught as he was surrounded by two defenders on the Cards' two yard line. Two plays later, with 48 seconds remaining, Jim Brown swept the right side for a touchdown. Although the Cards roared back to set up a game-tying 28-yard field goal by Jim Bakken, his fourth of the day, the tie which the Ryan-Collins play brought the Browns ultimately spelled the difference between first and second place.

Another hero of this hectic affair was the veteran Lou Groza who for the second time in his career kicked four field goals in a game. He passed the 1,000 point career mark in this game, first player in NFL history to do so.

The Cards scored less than a minute after the game began when Larry Stallings intercepted Ryan's pass and Charley Johnson flipped a short pass to John David Crow who raced 22 yards for a TD. Two Groza field goals from the 32 and the 12 narrowed the gap but the first of Bakken's field goals made it 10-6 at the quarter.

During the second period, the teams traded field goals but a Ryan to Paul Warfield pass that covered 40 yards gave the Browns a 16-13 halftime margin.

Johnson passed to Sonny Randle for 38 yards and a score early in the third period to put the Cards ahead. A field goal by Bakken and a seven-yard touchdown pass from Ryan to Collins made it 23-23 as the teams entered the final period.

Johnson's second touchdown pass to Randle, a 50-yarder on the opening play of the final period, again sent the Cards ahead but Groza's fourth field goal of the game midway through the period set the stage for the Ryan-Collins masterpiece.

Sun., Sept. 27 Browns 28, Eagles 20 (60,671) at Phila.

Again the Browns had to come from behind to maintain their unbeaten record but a strong second half performance paid off as Frank Ryan hurled touchdown passes to Paul Warfield, Jim Brown and Gary Collins.

The Browns took the opening kickoff and scored in less than four minutes when Ernie Green took a pitchout and raced 37 yards for a touchdown. The Eagles stormed back to score in 11 plays on a march that was featured by the hard running of Ollie Matson and Earl Gros. Matson scored on a one-yard plunge.

While the Browns failed to move well in the second period, Sam Baker kicked field goals of 12 and 42 yards to enable the Eagles to own a 13-7 margin at halftime.

A 24-yard aerial from Ryan to Warfield but Cleveland ahead in the third period and a 40-yard pass from Ryan to Brown just four minutes later gave the Browns a more comfortable margin. In the fourth period, just as a penalty on pass interference but the Eagles close to scoring, Ross Fichtner plucked an Eagle pass out of the air and returned 64 yards to the enemy 18. Ryan's 12 yard touchdown pass to Collins then clinched the game although Matson later scored his second touchdown of the game.

Warfield and Brown sparked the Cleveland offense, the former catching six passes for 97 yards and the latter gaining 104 yards on the ground and 53 yards on passes. Brown's performance of better than 100 yards on the ground was the first of six such days he enjoyed in 1964.

Sun., Oct. 4 Browns 27, Cowboys 6 (72,072) at Cleve.

This was the first of only three games during 1964 when the Browns took an early lead and never trailed their opponents. However, despite the ease with which the victory came, it was a most costly one as veteran tackle Bob Gain and safety-man Ross Fichtner suffered serious injuries.

Gain sustained a fractured leg which sidelined him the rest of the year while Fichtner was carried off with a serious concussion that kept him out of action until the final two games.

Dallas staged the first scoring threat of the game but a field goal attempt by Dick Van Raaphorst was blocked and the Browns marched to a touchdown which came on a seven-yard pass from Frank Ryan to Ernie Green. A screen pass by Ryan to Paul Warfield accounted for 41 yards during this match.

Groza kicked two field goals during the second period but John Roach, filling in for injured Don Meredith, offset these with a five-yard scoring pass to Pettis Norman. Near the end of the third period, Ryan gave Cleveland a 20-6 lead by tossing a 40-yard aerial to Warfield in the end zone. The Browns' final score came in the fourth period on a 38-yarder from Ryan to Gary Collins. Ryan enjoyed his finest game to date with 15 completions in 26 attempts for 256 yards and three touchdowns, bringing to nine the number of TD passes he had thrown in four games.

By catching a touchdown pass in his sixth straight game, Collins cracked the old club mark of five set by Dante Lavelli in 1954 and equalled by Ray Renfro in 1955-1956.

Sat. night, Oct. 10 Steelers 23, Browns 7 (80,530) at Cleve.

After this game, which marked the Browns' first loss of the season, Coach Blanton Collier stated the point rather succinctly when he indicated that "we were beaten in just about every way you can lose."

The Cleveland offense, which had averaged better than 28 points per game in four contests, was held to one touchdown and the defense could not contain Pittsburgh's John Henry Johnson who set a career high for himself as well as a club record by rushing for 200 yards.

With several key performers unavailable because of injuries, Pittsburgh chose to utilize a two fold plan of ball possession on offense and an unorthodox six-man front line defense.

The Steelers kept the ball for six and a half minutes after the opening kickoff to gain a first period 3-0 lead on Mike Clark's 21-yard field goal. When the Browns failed to move after the kickoff, the Steelers marched to another score with Johnson tallying on a 33-yard burst through the middle of the Browns' line.

Again the Browns failed to advance the football and again the Steelers scored the next time they got the ball. After one Steeler first down, Johnson took a flip from Ed Brown and raced 45 yards around left end for his second TD. With less than six minutes remaining, Ryan came through with an 18-yard scoring pass to Gary Collins and the score was Pittsburgh 16, Cleveland 7 at the half. By catching a TD pass in his seventh consecutive game, Collins joined six other NFL players in the record book who are tied for second place in touchdown passes for consecutive games; the league mark of 11 is shared by Buddy Dial and Elroy Hirsch.

The Browns launched a scoring threat early in the second half but it fell short and the Steelers then held the ball for seven minutes as they marched 80 yards for a touchdown. Johnson tallied his third touchdown of the night on a five-yard run.

Since the undefeated Cardinals were not scheduled to play until Monday evening in Baltimore, the Browns found themselves out of first place. It was the lone period of the year that they were not deadlocked for the lead or sole owner of the top rung. When the Colts thumped St. Louis on Monday, October 12, the Browns again were tied for first.

Sun., Oct. 18 Browns 20, Cowboys 16 (37,456) at Dallas

This game may have represented the Browns' most courageous effort of 1964 with Bernie Parrish emerging as the hero in a dramatic play that matched the Ryan-Collins pass of the St. Louis game in importance. With two of their regular defensive halfbacks, Larry Benz and Ross Fichtner sidelined by injuries, the Browns recorded another come from behind victory in very exciting fashion. Trailing by a 16 to 13 score and with only six minutes remaining, the Browns managed to win on a great effort by Parrish.

For the third time in the final period, the Browns had failed to make a first down and the Cowboys had possession on their own 23. Don Meredith, attempting to surprise the Browns at this stage, lofted a long, high pass intended for Frank Clarke. Parrish, however, leaped up to grab it and raced 54 yards with the interception for the deciding touchdown. The Cleveland defense then took over to thwart the Cowboys the rest of the way.

The largest crowd ever to watch the Browns in Dallas—37,456—saw Cleveland score on the fifth play of the game when Ernie Green plunged over left guard from the one-yard line. Jim Brown's longest run of the season, a 71-yard jaunt around end, had set up the TD. Lou Groza and Dick Van Raaphorst each kicked two field goals in the second period but Dallas surged ahead in the third period on a three-pointer by Van Raaphorst and a touchdown by Don Perkins on a one-yard plunge.

With 188 yards gained rushing, Brown had his finest day of the season and his second 100 yards plus effort of 1964. Gary Collins failed to catch a touchdown pass for the first time in eight games but the Browns' star flanker saved a touchdown following one of his punts by nailing speedy Mel Renfro after a 51-yard return.

Sun., Oct. 25 Browns 42, Giants 20 (81,050) at Cleve.

A very satisfying win over the 1963 eastern division champions coupled with Dallas' surprise 31 to 13 victory over St. Louis gave the Browns sole possession of first place.

In no game of 1964 did the Browns better display their knack of converting enemy bobbles to their own advantage than they did in this affair during which the Giants outgained them, 426 yards to 225 yards, in addition to having the ball for 76 offensive plays to the Browns' 44.

The final result was even more gratifying since the Browns' defensive team was riddled by injuries and star receivers Gary Collins and Paul Warfield had to operate at half speed because of pulled ham-string muscles.

Three quick touchdowns in less than five minutes early in the fourth period broke wide open a game in which the Browns had barely led, 14-13, after three periods. Dick James, tripped by Bill Glass, fumbled on his two-yard line and Paul Wiggin scooped up the ball and raced into the end zone for a Browns' touchdown. Moments later, linebacker Jim Houston picked off a Y. A. Tittle pass and returned 44 yards to the Giants' 31. Less than a minute later, Frank Ryan threw a nine-yard pass to Collins for a touchdown. Clarence Childs of the Giants fumbled the kickoff on his 23 and Charley Scales gathered in the ball and returned it for a touchdown. Excellent and alert play by the defense actually scored or set up all three scores. Later in the period, the Browns scored their fourth TD of the quarter when Jim Ninowski passed 11 yards to John Brewer.

New York had scored first in the opening period when James tallied from the one yard line. Don Chandler's try for extra point was wide. Cleveland took the lead in the second quarter when rookie Leroy Kelly returned a New York punt 68 yards on a very thrilling run. Each team scored once in the third period, the Browns on a Ryan to Warfield pass good for 11 yards and Tittle on a keeper play around end for seven yards. The Giants' final score occurred in the waning minutes of the game on a 20-yard jaunt by Ernie Wheelright after a pitchout by Gary Wood.

Sun., Nov. 1 Browns 30, Steelers 17 (49,568) at Pitts.

Jim Brown and Ernie Green teamed up for the Browns' finest running effort of the year to avenge the club's earlier surprise defeat by the Steelers.

The victory was particularly important as the second-place St. Louis Cards were upset by New York, thus giving the Browns a two-game bulge. Brown gained 149 yards in this game, his third 100 yards plus performance of the year, and Green added 86.

With Gary Collins sidelined by a pulled ham-string muscle and Paul Warfield still handicapped by a similar injury, the Browns opened slowly. After a scoreless first period, Brown started the second period with an eight-yard surge over tackle that enabled him to pass the 10,000 yard mark in ground gained rushing during his career.

Groza booted a 36-yard field goal to open the scoring and with less than six minutes of the quarter remaining, Frank Ryan hit Clifton McNeil, Collins' replacement, with a 25-yard scoring pass. The Steelers managed to even the count at 10-all by halftime. Clarence Peaks climaxed a 79-yard march with a five-yard plunge for a touchdown and Mike Clark kicked a 26-yard field goal in the final minute of the half.

Larry Benz's second interception of the game set up a Cleveland touchdown early in the third period. Green put the Browns ahead, 17-10, when he scored on a seven-yard drive over tackle and Groza increased the margin with a 22-yarder near the end of the period. Another three-pointer by Groza in the final quarter gave the Browns some breathing room but the Steelers stormed back to make it 23-17 on a 72-yard march with John Henry Johnson scoring on a short plunge. Johnson, who enjoyed the finest day of his career in the earlier game with the Browns when he ran for 200 yards, had a total of 100 in this affair.

In eight plays after this touchdown, Brown and Green carried the ball for 73 yards with Green accounting for the game-clinching points on a 14-yard run through tackle.

Sun., Nov. 8 Browns 34, Redskins 24 (76,385) at Cleve.

The Browns came up with a new way of scoring a touchdown—a pass by Jim Brown to Gary Collins—and Frank Ryan heaved a 62-yard scoring aerial to Paul Warfield, the longest pass play of the season, as the team maintained its two game edge over St. Louis.

As in their earlier meeting with the Browns, the Redskins got on the scoreboard first when Jim Martin kicked a 30-yard field goal early in the second quarter. The Browns did not trail for very long as Ernie Green took a flip from Ryan and raced 21 yards to score and Lou Groza came through with two field goals. The veteran Groza had sustained a fractured nose early in the period on a tackle following a kickoff but this did not seem to hinder him.

In the third period, Brown started to his right on what appeared to be a sweep, then stopped and heaved his lone pass of 1964, a touchdown pass for 13 yards to Collins. Ryan's long bomb to Warfield later gave the Browns a 27-10 lead going into the final period. The Skins had also scored in the third period on Sonny Jurgensen's pass to Bobby Mitchell.

The Browns added a touchdown in the final period on Brown's short plunge while Jurgensen threw scoring passes to Charlie Taylor and Mitchell.

Sun., Nov. 15 Browns 37, Lions 21 (83,064) at Cleve.

A throng of 83,064, largest of the season, witnessed a thrilling game replete with long gains as the Browns whipped the Lions for the first time in six regular games. After a very close first half, the Browns dominated play in the second half as they never permitted the Lions to come close to a score. By winning, the Browns added to their lead over the Cardinals who were tied by New York; with four games to go, the Browns had a two and a half game margin.

Cleveland opened by taking the kickoff and marching 82 yards for a score, Jim Brown finally going across from the six yard line. The lead was short-lived as Detroit bounced right back when Milt Plum passed over the middle to Dan Lewis who scampered for a 92-yard touchdown. The Lions took advantage of three penalties against the Browns to go ahead later in the period, Plum passing four yards to Jim Gibbons for the score.

Lou Groza narrowed the Lions' margin to 14-10 with a 38-yard field goal and the Browns later went ahead as Paul Wiggin pounced on a fumble at the Lions' two from where Brown plunged over. Two long passes by Plum were then good for 69 yards, the first to Dale Cogdill netting 30 and the second to Terry Barr gaining 39 and a TD which gave the Lions a narrow 21-20 halftime lead.

Detroit never threatened in the second half as the Browns' defense held the Lions to four first downs. Frank Ryan's pass for eight yards to Paul Warfield put the Browns ahead in the third period and Groza's 36 yard field goal with less than two minutes of play remaining in the game put the game out of reach. The game ended on a very exciting note when defensive back Walter Beach, who had snared one Detroit aerial in the final quarter, grabbed another just as the final gun sounded and returned 65 yards for his first touchdown in the NFL.

Sun., Nov. 22 Packers 28, Browns 21 (48,065) at Milwau.

Although they played one of their best games of 1964, the Browns bowed to their western division foe by making several mistakes in the second half after completely dominating play in the early stages of the game.

Paul Warfield had his finest day of the year, catching seven passes good for 126 yards and scoring two touchdowns. Two fumbles and two pass interceptions, however, gave the Packers scoring opportunities which they cashed in on and the Browns' bid to save the game in the final period missed.

Frank Ryan's first pass of the day to Warfield early in the first period was good for 48 yards and a touchdown. It took the Packers five plays to even the score 7-all, Elijah Pitts racing 19 yards for a touchdown. Ryan's 24 yard pass to Gary Collins set up a second Cleveland touchdown in the first period with Brown plunging across from the one.

Green Bay was held in check during the second period while the Browns mounted several offensive threats but failed to push across a score. Indicative of the Browns' superiority in the first half were the statistics in which they led Green Bay in first downs, 13 to 5, and in total yardage, 200 to 87.

In the third period, Green Bay uncorked a surprise play which seemed to halt the Cleveland momentum. It was fourth down and one yard to go for Green Bay on its own 44. With the Browns expecting a rush as the Packers disdained a punt, Bart Starr tossed a pass to Max McGee and the latter barreled to the Browns' one yard stripe from where Jim Taylor scored to tie the count. Moments later, a Cleveland fumble gave the Packers the ball on the Brown 22 and Green Bay went ahead as Starr scored on a four-yard keeper play. A Cleveland threat was halted by Dan Currie's interception on his 26. Taylor's second TD of the day early in the fourth period increased the Packers' lead to 28-14. Ryan's second touchdown pass of the game to Warfield, a 19-yarder, narrowed the gap but a fumble and an interception halted Cleveland's bid to tie the score. With St. Louis defeating Philadelphia, the Browns' lead over the Cards was cut to a game and a half.

Sun., Nov. 29 Browns 38, Eagles 24 (79,289) at Cleve.

Cleveland's defensive unit accounted for the Browns' first three touchdowns as the team romped to an easy win before 79,289 fans who swelled to a record 633,070 the number of people who had attended the Browns' seven league games plus the pre-season doubleheader. A record 549,334 had been at the seven league affairs.

Tim Brown fumbled Lou Groza's opening kickoff and the ball bounced backward toward the end zone as one Brown after another tried to pounce on the ball only to have the elusive pigskin squirt out before Roger Shoals landed on it just inside the end zone for a touchdown. In the second period, Sidney Williams blocked and recovered Sam Baker's kick in the end zone to give Cleveland its second TD. Jim Houston's 44 yard return of an intercepted pass accounted for Cleveland's third score and the Browns led, 21 to 3, at halftime. Baker's first period 14-yard field goal constituted the Eagles' first half point output.

Groza's 37 yarder and Ryan's pass to Johnny Brewer gave the Browns 10 more points in the third period while Tim Brown swept around his left end for 20 yards and the Eagles' first TD. The Browns' last touchdown came in the final period on Ryan's second touchdown pass to Brewer while Norm Snead heaved TD aerials to Ron Goodwin and Pete Retzlaff for the Eagles' final touchdowns.

Sun., Dec. 6 Cardinals 28, Browns 19 (31,585) at St. Louis

The Browns needed either a victory or a tie in this one to clinch their first eastern division title since 1957 but the Cards capitalized on each of their scoring chances while the Browns failed to make the big play on several of their opportunities. As a result, the issue wasn't to be resolved until the final weekend.

A big second period in which St. Louis scored three touchdowns broke the game wide open and although the Browns had several scoring chances in the game, they could push across but one touchdown. For the second time in 1964 and the third time in his career, Lou Groza kicked four field goals. Earlier in 1964 he had done the same thing against the Cards.

Groza's first field goal gave the Browns a 3-0 lead at the end of the first period. Cards' quarterback Charley Johnson, who enjoyed a fine day, put his team ahead early in the second quarter when he threw a pass over the middle to Joe Childress who eluded a Cleveland defender and raced across to score on a 46-yard play. On the second play after the kickoff, Larry Stallings intercepted a Frank Ryan aerial and it took six plays for the Cards to score their second TD, Johnson sneaking across from the one. Minutes later, St. Louis went ahead, 21-3 on an eight-yard pass from Johnson to Bobby Joe Conrad. Groza's 39-yard field goal made the halftime score: St. Louis 21, Cleveland 6.

In the second half, the Browns outplayed their opponents but failed to come up with big plays that would have spelled touchdowns rather than field goals. Groza tallied his third field goal early in the third period but this was more than offset by the Cards' fourth touchdown as Johnson plunged for one yard and St. Louis led, 28-9, going into the final period.

Groza kicked his fourth field goal less than 90 seconds into the final period. When Paul Wiggin recovered John David Crow's fumble on the Cards'

18 during the next series of downs, the Browns had a glorious chance to get back in the game. But Larry Wilson quickly ended this threat by intercepting Ryan's first down pass intended for Gary Collins in the end zone. Late in the game, Cleveland finally scored a touchdown when Ryan threw a 30-yard pass to Ernie Green who made a leaping catch.

Sat., Dec. 12 Browns 52, Giants 20 (63,007) at New York

The Browns clinched their first division title since 1957 in this one with a fine performance. Their total of 52 points was the highest scored by the Browns since the championship game against Detroit in 1954. Frank Ryan, with 12 completions in 13 attempts, enjoyed his most memorable day in the pro ranks as he tossed for five touchdowns.

Cleveland scored the first time it had the ball, Lou Groza booting a 39-yarder with a little over five minutes gone of the first period. This completed the scoring in the initial period. Y. A. Tittle's seven yard pass to Dick James for a touchdown gave the Giants a brief lead in the second period but the Browns roared back quickly to go ahead.

Passes by Ryan to Paul Warfield and Gary Collins plus two fine runs by Jim Brown brought the ball to the Giants' 12 from where Ryan raced across for a touchdown. Bernie Parrish picked off a Tittle pass to set the stage for the Browns' next touchdown which came on an 11-yard Ryan-Collins heave. Vince Costello purloined a Giant pass with less than a minute of the half remaining and Ryan hurled a 47-yard bomb to Warfield who made an outstanding catch one yard from the goal line with two defenders all over him. Ryan then accounted for Cleveland's third touchdown of the period with a short pass to Ernie Green. Halftime score was: Cleveland 24, New York 7.

Ryan continued his fine marksmanship in the third period as he tossed touchdown passes to Green, Warfield and Brown. Brown's TD was the 105th of his eight year career and it tied him with Don Hutson of Green Bay for the NFL mark of most touchdowns scored in a career, one which should be Jim's alone this year.

Cleveland's final touchdown occurred in the final period on a 24-yard scoring pass from Jim Ninowski to Walter Roberts. The Giants' last two touchdowns came on passes from rookie quarterback Gary Wood to Aaron Thomas. For the third time this season, rookie Warfield went over the 100 yard mark in passing yardage with 103 on five receptions. Groza's seven points after touchdown tied a club record which he had set on two previous occasions.

Sun., Dec. 27 Browns 27, Colts 0 (79,544) at Cleve.

In winning their fourth National Football League title and their first since 1955, the Browns displayed an all-around team effort that many observers believe to be the best in the club's history.

The defensive unit of the underdog Browns held the third highest scoring machine in NFL history scoreless and handcuffed the Colts, who had led the league in scoring (428) and total yardage (4,779). As a matter of fact, the Colts had but one scoring opportunity. Johnny Unitas, the league's Most Valuable Player, completed but 12 passes good for only 95 yards as the Cleveland secondary deployed a different pass defense than usual in containing Baltimore's speedy receivers.

While the defensive unit sparkled, the Cleveland offense got into high gear in the third period on a 17-point outburst to settle the issue. Chief perpretators of the offensive attack against the Colts were Frank Ryan who completed 11 of 18 passes, Gary Collins who caught three of Ryan's passes for the Browns' touchdowns and Jim Brown who carried 27 times for 114 yards enabling the Browns to maintain possession during their marches downfield. Collins was awarded a Corvette by Sport Magazine as the game's most Valuable Player. Veteran Lou Groza also helped with two field goals.

In the scoreless first half, the Browns failed to mount any long offensive threat and the Colts had but one scoring chance which they muffed when Bob Boyd fumbled the ball on a snap from center as the Colts attempted a field goal from Cleveland's 19. With 11:39 remaining in the third period, Lou Groza sent Cleveland ahead on a 43-yard field goal. When the Browns gained possession again after holding for downs following the kickoff, they had the ball on their own 32. Brown picked up four yards through tackle, then roared around his right end for 46 yards to the Colts' 18. Ryan threw the first of three touchdown passes to Collins in the end zone and Cleveland led, 10 to 0.

Again the Browns contained the Colts after the kickoff and a bad punt by Tom Gilburg sailed out of bounds on his 39. After a three-yard loss, Ryan found Collins all alone on the Colts' 15 and Gary sauntered across to make the score: Cleveland 17, Baltimore 0.

In the opening minute of the final period, Cleveland had a first down on Baltimore's one but the Colt line stiffened and the Browns settled for a field goal by Groza, his second of the game. Lou's two field goals and three extra points enabled him to add to his NFL championship game scoring and kicking records. Lou now has 49 points, 25 extra points and eight field goals, all championship game records. In addition, by playing in his eighth title affair, Groza tied Andy Robustelli for most games played. Cleveland's final score came at 6:20 of the final period on a 51-yard pass to Collins from Ryan. Collins, seemingly well defended, made a sensational catch and raced a few yards to score. While the work of the entire defensive unit was outstanding, young Jim Kanicki drew special praise. The youngster, a regular this reason for the first time, played All-Pro Jim Parker on better than even terms.
